Organization for Small and Medium Enterprises and Regional Innovation (SMRJ) is to invest up to 1 billion yen in Bio Contents LLP, which is managed and governed jointly by PSS Capital Co., Ltd. and Trans-Science Inc.

Precision System Science Co., Ltd. (PSS) was officially informed that SMRJ had decided to invest up to 1 billion yen in Bio Contents LLP (the "Fund"), which was formed by PSS Capital Co., Ltd. (PSSC), a wholly owned subsidiary of PSS, and Trans-Science Inc., an independent venture capital, to invest and incubate biotechnology business ventures.

The investment was realized in accordance with the SMRJ's main business criteria; that is, "supporting ventures with fund investment".

The Fund plans to predominantly invest in starting-up to pre-IPO firms that have either industrially usable bio contents focusing on SNPs analysis, genetic expression analysis, and infectious disease diagnostics, etc. or distinctive technologies to analyze such contents. The Fund was founded to promote earlier realization of preventive medicine and so-called tailor-made type medical treatment; and to further vitalize the entire bio-industry.

Since its establishment of July 21, 2006, the Fund has invited other investors to invest in the Fund, while it has searched seeds and ventures to invest. As the 1 billion yen investment by SMRJ was confirmed, the Fund amount has become to 2 billion yen to date. The invitation to invest in the Fund will be continued until end of May 2007.
